

THE INNER COR

A quarterly eNewsletter dedicated to North Carolina Data and Information Management News and Business Trends.

A Note from Chris

A belated Happy New Year to you. We wish you much success in 2015.

It's a digital world and today digital means fast. With so much changing in data and information management we felt that we needed a way to keep our customers up to speed with what's new and what's coming. Allow me to introduce our new quarterly eNewsletter, The INNER COR – dedicated to North Carolina Data and Information Management News and Business Trends.

By all indications the paperless office just may be the wave of the future. And there's plenty of debate over the future of document management. But in the meantime I can tell you that I'm literally surrounded by stacks of paper. And while it may no longer be the darling of the press you still have to treat it with the proper respect in terms of privacy, confidentiality and security. In other words, the paper storage and management business isn't going away anytime soon.

While we at COR365 Information Solutions are dedicated to supporting our customers traditional data and information needs, we are also dedicated to helping our customers effortlessly step into the world of dynamic content management.

For over three decades COR365 Information Solutions has been dedicated to keeping your critical information safe, secure and available. And now with the addition of our new iCOR by M-Files dynamic content management, no other company can match our solutions or our dedication to finding the right one for each client. COR365 Information Solutions introduces iCOR by M-Files

Simple. Intuitive. Economical.

Winston-Salem, NC—Industry leader COR365® Information Solutions has introduced a new service that provides businesses with faster, easier access to their digital files, regardless of format. With iCOR™ by M-Files™, documents, MP3s and videos are stored based on what they are, rather than where they are, creating a simpler, more intuitive system of access and storage.

When someone needs a particular file, instead of clicking through folder after folder, they simply enter a key word or two, and the file pops up on their screen. And that could be any screen—iCOR can be accessed anytime, from anywhere, via PC, laptop or any mobile device. Storage options include cloud, on-premise or a hybrid system.

"We are excited to offer this dynamic content management solution to our clients," said Chris Kelley, CEO of COR365. "It's designed to help them more efficiently store, locate, access and utilize critical business data in an extremely secure platform."

"In addition to being more efficient, iCOR is scalable and affordable, so any sized business can benefit from it," Kelley added. "In fact, clients who have opted for this new system report realizing impressive R.O.I. levels in just the first year."

Along with Kelley, COR365 president Andy Brown sees iCOR as the future of digital information management. "We had been looking for a more intuitive way for clients to integrate and manage all forms of information. iCOR is the answer. And in today's fast-paced business climate, providing a mobile component was critical."
